

At Random

Today is Thanksgiving.

And what a lot there is to be thankful for.

And it looks as though we have a better chance than ever of getting our boys home.

It's our boys who are doing the job. Give them every ounce of help you can.

BUY BONDS. Keep 'em fighting.

How about a few Christmas presents for the boys in the service? But mail 'em this week.

And some cheery Christmas letters? They won't be home with the family circle this year.

When the mail man arrives at camp see to it that no local boy gets "no mail for you today, sorry."

They say America will have to help police the world after the war.

Where will they get enough fish policemen?

Invitation out for Thanksgiving dinner.

The late Jim Schermerhorn of the Detroit Times would say: "We haven't an invitation for Christmas yet."

Start pumping a soldier and not tell him who you are.

Here's what he will tell you...

And we'll bet the President doesn't use his coffee grounds the second time either.

"Our armies are invincible!"—Hitler, O. ye!

"Our armies are invincible!"—Mussolini, O. ye!

"Me and Hitler will rule the world!"—Mussolini, O. ye!

Send us more Japs to fight! American Marines.

Womans Club

The club met Monday evening with Mrs. F. J. Cook.

Following a short business session led by the president, Miss LaFave, Mrs. Oscar Schumann, leader for the evening, introduced Mrs. Russell Robertson who spoke on the subject: "Nurses Aides." It was a very pleasing and constructive talk, showing the vital need for nurses aides in the hospitals all over the country.

Miss Helen Langlois gave a very interesting report on "Women in War Service." She was followed by Mrs. Ernest Hoelsi who told what "Women in Public Office are doing in Washington."

The club will meet next Monday evening with Mrs. Fred Welsh. Members please note the change.

British Take Old U. S. Submarine

The Union Jack is raised to the Jackstaff of the old U. S. submarine E-3, as she is transferred to the British navy at the Groton, Conn., submarine base, under terms of the lend-lease act. Another sub, the E-25, which had been refurbished and put in top condition by the U. S. navy, went to the Polish navy at the same time. The E-3 is a 600-tonner of 1918 vintage.

No Gift Without A War Stamp

"No gift without a War Stamp" is the theme Michigan's 60,000 retailers have chosen to keynote their drive to sell War Savings Stamps and Bonds between now and Christmas. Idea is to encourage every individual in Michigan to include a War Savings Stamp with every individual Christmas gift, no matter for whom, or how small or large it may be.

"If every person will accept this suggestion, and include a War Savings Stamp with every Christmas gift, millions of War Savings Stamps can be sold between now and Christmas, resulting in a tremendous amount of money for helping to win the war; and of course all of it represents savings for the future," stated Wilhelm Raabe, Retail War Savings Chairman for Crawford County. "This is a sound, sensible idea, and its entire success depends upon every individual carrying through on the plan."

The Michigan Retailers War Savings Committee has prepared a little Gift Card, to be included with individual Christmas gifts, and in it is a slot into which a War Savings Stamp, of any desired denomination, may be inserted. It has a place for writing the name of the one who presents the gift, and is very attractive. Those retailers who are participating in the State-wide program of the Michigan committee have these cards to give to every customer who buys a Christmas gift from them. These stores can be identified by the special window poster which features the "No Gift without a War Stamp" theme, and shows an illustration of the Gift Card. These stores are also identified by the official emblem of the Michigan Retailers War Savings Committee, which is to be found on their windows.

A good portion of the retail stores in Crawford County are actively participating in this program of offering War Savings Bonds and Stamps to their customers, as requested by the U. S. Treasury Department. Stores which are not now enlisted in the program, or which may not have the Christmas campaign materials, can obtain full information if they will contact Mr. Raabe, Norman Butler and Harley Russell, Crawford County Retail Committee.

For information call Mr. Raabe, Mr. Butler or Mr. Russell.

The Weather

We have had cloudy, overcast weather all week with even a little rain off and on. The temperatures for the week were: 54 high last Friday and 13 low Monday, not unusual temperatures for this time of year. Also there is hope of a nice day for Thanksgiving.

Rattlesnake's Age

The age of a rattlesnake can be determined from the rattles only when the snake still possesses its first rattle.

Miles Of Trains To Carry Christmas Mail

DON'T WAIT BEFORE MAILING PACKAGES—HELP THE P. O.

Postmaster James McDonnell says few people realize the big problem that confronts the Post Office department this year in carrying the heavy Christmas mail. With millions of men in the service that means millions of pounds of Christmas packages and millions of extra letters.

The Department says that the bulk of Christmas mail must be in the postoffices by December 1st. In 1941 about 21,950 mail cars were required between December 12th and 24th to deliver Christmas mail—enough cars to make a train 270 miles long.

This year the need is nearly double and the unfortunate thing is that there are no extra available cars. They are in use for the army.

So you can see the importance of "stepping on it" and do your mailing at once—this week.

Junior Play A Huge Success

"Oh Promise Me!" given by the Junior Class Tues. night was a huge success. The cast has worked unselfishly for the last month, and many compliments go out to Mrs. Marius Hanson, who sacrificed much of her time to make the play a real success.

The play was a three act comedy, a Samuel French production.

Barry Hollis, the main character in the show was portrayed by Allan Stevenson, who did a brilliant job of acting the part of a wealthy play boy who's entanglements and pranks brought laughter to the last curtain.

His aunt, Sue Hollis was played by Mildred Smith. You extend your full sympathy to this woman whose household is upset by Barry's numerous love affairs.

June Hollis, his sister, is played by Billyann Clippert, who in Barry's estimation never says the right thing at the right time.

Bob Nelson who portrays the part of Seth Miller, Barry's lawyer, pulls him out of many a scrape at the crucial moment.

Further the family butler, played by Fred Smith, whose quiet ways and subtle humor bring many a laugh from the audience.

Jeanne Hanson who portrays the lovable Ann Furber, whose sweet sympathetic ways win the audience's heart as well as Barry's.

Patsie Linden, the dancer from Hoboken, who is taken by Ernest Stephan, spends most of her time trying to teach her mother to "act refined."

Patsie's mother, Mrs. Linden, the ex-burlesque queen is played by Nelle Welsh. Her feet always hurt and who is continually telling her daughter to forget her "ettyquette," and get the man.

Miss Gladys Vance the gold-digger from Boston is portrayed by Jane Milnes. Her smooth manners and winning ways almost traps Barry into a heartless marriage, but alas! Barry is temporarily broke, which rids him not only of the Lindens but of Gladys also.

Arlene Vincent who takes the part of Kathleen the Irish maid, finds the long lost Percival in the very household in which she works.

Ralph Sanders, Don Sorenson in real life, a slicker from New York who continually pesters Ann to marry him until Kathleen sees him and lo and behold, Ralph becomes the long lost Percival.

Mrs. Jones, the young mother, is taken by Pat Chappel. Her high voice, excited manner and abrupt entrance brings the second act to a roaring close, when she finds her beloved "Gwendolyn" has been stolen by Barry who "merely borrowed it."

From the opening curtain to the last, the play is packed with a lot of clean, wholesome humor.

Music for between acts is furnished by the "Stardusters", composed of Louis Kraus, Dick Dawson, Barbara Borchers, Wanda Doran and Nelle Welsh.

Ten per cent of your income in War Bonds will help to build the planes and tanks that will insure defeat of Hitler and his Axis partners.

Locked Antlers

So seldom seen that some persons have doubted that it ever occurred is the death of deer from locking antlers in their mating-season battles. Conservation Officer Charles Hicking and William Dorman, the hunter who found these dead bucks north of Kalkaska, here examine the tangle of antlers that proved fatal to both fighters.

Eliminate Outdoor Christmas Lighting

The War Production Board today asked city officials, civic clubs, chambers of Commerce, merchants and citizens generally to dispense with outdoor decorative lighting this Christmas.

WPB pointed out that Christmas lighting requires the use of critical materials electricity, and manpower and is not in line with general conservation programs already under way.

The attitude of WPB toward Christmas lighting was announced because of numerous inquiries that have already been received from city officials, chambers of commerce and civic clubs asking what they should do in regard to outdoor decorative lighting.

WPB is not asking that indoor Christmas lighting, whether in the home or in stores, be eliminated, but it believes that outdoor lighting, such as festooned store fronts and decorated streets, must be dispensed with in war time.

Although the electricity saving and the resultant fuel saving may appear small, as compared with the total annual usage, nevertheless the elimination of outdoor Christmas lighting is estimated to save 50,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity, enough to meet the lighting and power requirements of a city of 50,000 for a year.

Markby-Cavanaugh

Miss Thelma Cavanaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cavanaugh, and Albert Markby, son of Mrs. Grace Markby of Grayling, were married at 9:00 o'clock Saturday, Nov. 7, in the rectory of the St. Johns' Catholic church in Standish with Rev. Father E. P. Labory reading the ceremony.

The bride wore a simple brown crepe suit with white collar and cuffs. Her corsage was made up of three gardenias and she wore a gold bracelet from her mother's wedding. Her accessories were of brown.

Miss Phyllis Cavanaugh, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor and wore a soldier blue suit, identical to that of the bride's, with matching accessories. Her corsage was also made up of three gardenias.

Douglas MacDaniel attended the bridegroom as best man.

A wedding breakfast was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride as was the reception and dance held in the evening at which 175 guests were present.

Immediate relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Markby attending the wedding from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Sterling of Grayling, Mrs. Frank Throop and Mrs. Lawrence Lalone of Lansing, and Miss Laura Cavanaugh of Bay City.

The happy couple will make their home in Pontiac where the groom is employed.

Remember Pearl Harbor War Bond Drive

Monday, December 7th, will be the first anniversary of the cowardly attack on this nation by the Japanese.

Frank N. Isbey, Chairman of the U. S. Treasury Michigan War Savings Committee, is asking the citizens of the state to Remember Pearl Harbor in a substantial way—by buying an extra United States War Bond with the commemorative date of December 7, 1942. No matter what the denomination of the bond from $25 to $100.00, if enough people in Michigan buy this one extra bond, it will hasten the ultimate Victory of the arms of our nation.

Arrangements are being made for all War Bond-issuing agents in the state or acceded to the request by the purchaser and date any War Bond purchased between December 1st and December 7, 1942, with the validating stamp dated December 7, 1942. All that the bond purchaser will have to do is to mark his application: "Pearl Harbor Commemorative Bond."

At the offices of the Michigan War Savings Staff, Mr. Isbey stated: "I know of no better manner in which the civilian army on the home front can answer the treacherous attack of the Japanese than by buying one extra War Bond to commemorate the deeds of those who died that Sunday morning at Pearl Harbor. This War Bond should be an extra bond to those that the people are already buying. We were attacked at Pearl Harbor on December 7th, 1941, but on December 7th, 1942, we'll let the Japs and the Germans know that we are wide awake. I hope that everyone in Michigan will do their utmost to buy an extra War Bond to 'Remember Pearl Harbor'. Let's make that phrase mean more than just the opening line of a song. Let it go down in history with 'Remember the Alamo' and 'Remember the Maine'—as our cry of Victory."

Two Buckeyes, Two Bucks

Boom Bromley, Fostoria, Ohio, nimrod demonstrated his skill for the boys at the Red Tail Buck camp. He fired from the hip and felled a prize buck with one shot which entered the buck's left eye just thirty minutes after day break on the opening day.

It was the first trip to Michigan for Bromley an old buck hunter from Kansas where he rode range on the 101 ranch and hunted deer on horseback.

Said Bromley: "There were four bucks together and if I'd had my horse I could have roped the other three."

Fred Roberts, also in the party from Fostoria, Ohio, got his buck on the second day.

The Home Front

The Michigan coffee-lover, beginning with breakfast on next Sunday, Nov. 29, must face the world on about a cup a day. Starting on that day, stamp No. 27 in your War Ration book the book you use to get sugar will entitle you and each member of your family over 14 years old to one pound of coffee. This will have to last you for five weeks.

Most of the rules applied to sugar rationing will apply also to coffee. The main exception is that you will not be able to get coffee with coupons from the books of your children 14 years old or younger. And you probably will want to take care of your coffee purchases differently than you have sugar. Most women are accustomed to buying sugar in large quantities, but coffee loses its flavor and freshness and should be bought a pound or two at a time.

Advice to Christmas shoppers from the Office of Defense Transportation: Carry your packages home with you (store delivery has been cut 25 per cent under last year), but carry them on buses and street cars during off-peak hours between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. In cases of purchases that cannot be carried, do your shopping immediately. Avoid the all-time record rush anticipated for mid-December.

Kitchen gadgets are out for the duration. The War Production Board has ordered that bare essentials must be the rule, which eliminates most of the varied and colorful array of metal gadgets, cooking utensils and housewares that in recent years have characterized the American home and kitchen.

Price reductions are always good news—and here's a report of them from the Office of Price Administration. The cost of knitted underwear is expected to drop from three to 20 cents per garment under the OPA order requiring that savings in material costs of these garments due to necessary war-time substitutions for less expensive carded yarn for combed yarn be passed on to the consumer.

To prevent a critical heating oil shortage in Lower Michigan and to insure adequate deliveries pending further study into price structures, OPA has just established new ceilings on distillate fuel oil for both tank wagon and refineries in this territory. Generally, the new ceilings are one-half cent higher per gallon.

The '43 garden season is a long way off—but Victory gardeners are advised by WPB that sufficient supplies of insecticides for next year will be assured.

Old jokes about the ice man may start up again soon. With curtailment of production of mechanical refrigerators, ice cards probably will start making their appearance in windows again. WPB is allowing the manufacture of 300,000 ice boxes next year—boxes which employ a minimum amount of men and steel.

Ted Callahan Training For Combat Duty

Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.—Theodore J. Callahan, Grayling, who recently entered military service has arrived at the Engineer Replacement Training Center here for an intensive training program in preparation for combat engineering duty.

Training will include basic subjects like close and extended order drill, manual of arms, rifle marksmanship and combat principles as well as the functions of military engineering—use of tools and equipment, building of fixed and floating bridges, demolitions and construction of roads and obstacles. Soldiers go from here to tactical units or to special units or to special training or officer candidate schools.

Lovells

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Longdyke and son Harold Frank returned to Detroit Saturday after a successful hunting season. Mr. Longdyke bagged an eight point buck on the fifth day of hunting in the vicinity of Lovells. Arthur Collins and Frederick Plotts, of Detroit were the last guests to be entertained at Dream Cabin as the Longdykes have closed their cabin for the duration.

Church Notes

THANKSGIVING DAY SERVICES.

The President urges that our people attend divine worship on annual Thanksgiving Day. This year Thanksgiving Day has an unusual significance for us. The Danish Lutheran congregation and members of Michelson Memorial church are uniting for this service on Thursday 11 a. m. to 11:40 a. m. This will afford ample time for fellowship dinner and greetings after this brief, but important period of devotion. We invite the general public to come and worship with us.

Rev. H. W. Kuhlman, Pastor.

There are not words enough in all Shakespeare to express the merest fraction of a man's experience in an hour. (R. L. Stevenson).

Caution!

There is machine gun firing going on, on the old artillery range, north of Bald Knob, at the Military reservation. So hunters and others who go in that direction are asked to use precaution. Look for the red flags and where the roads are marked "closed."

Commission Light Cruiser San Juan

Months ahead of schedule, the new light cruiser San Juan, one of the fastest and most heavily armed ships of its type, is shown above as was placed in commission at the Boston naval drydock. Capt. Charles Brand, manager of the Boston navy yard, read the orders placing the vessel under command of Capt. James C. Mahor of Ulster, N. Y.

THOMAS FRANK MARSTON.

Death has taken one of Michigan's most outstanding men in Thomas Frank Marston, of Bay City. He passed away at his home there Monday.

Behind him is a trail of labor. Northeastern Michigan had opportunities of the highest type and it needed someone to bring them out. Our forests were fast going and something else was to replace them. Mr. Marston, himself a successful farmer, could see millions of acres of land in northern Michigan that could produce. The northeastern Michigan Development Bureau was organized and Mr. Marston was its first manager and secretary.

This grew to a large membership and saw the development of Northeastern Michigan agricultural interests. Better crops, better dairying and better management of farms were stressed with tremendous success.

The automobile demanded more and greater recreational areas and Mr. Marston had the vision of all northern Michigan as a vast playground. Rich in wonderful trout streams and lakes and with a climate that has no peer anywhere for health and comfort and recreational resources that only need awakening and brot into light were some of the pictures that must have passed through the mind of Mr. Marston.

In his role as secretary and manager of the Development Bureau he instituted what is now the Northeastern Michigan Tourist Association. He gave it the light of publicity until today Eastern Michigan, because of his pointing the way, is famed as one of the most beautiful, and enjoyable resort areas anywhere in the central states.

"Tom," as his many friends liked to call him, did much for Northern Michigan. He was always friendly and always ready to do something for others. He and Mrs. Marston will be missed by literally thousands of people. He did his job well and leaves memories that will long be remembered by thousands.

Janey

Janey closed the bedroom door and locked it. Alone at last. She threw back her head and heaved a deep sigh. Then she peeked out of the corner of her eye at the mirror to see whether she really did look like Hedy LaMarr. Quite a lot, she decided.

And now to business. She drew forth from the bottom of her top bureau drawer the sheet of pink writing-paper and the envelope that she had been saving for this day. She sat down at the table by the window and dipped the pen into the bottle of green ink that her sister effort of the best pupil in penmanship class.

"Here are my stamps for a bond. $18.75. I started last Christmas when I got $3.00. Not counting 50 cents, I have earned all the rest, working one or more days a week at a local grocery store, and I'm quite proud to say I worked hard to get it."

Janey stared out of the window at Peterson's house, and beyond at the big yard where the kids were playing football. She held her pen elegantly in air.

"Sitting here looking out the window, I see a peaceful little town, and I wonder how the world can be in such a turmoil and the people of this world can have such hate for their fellow men. So I'm proud to send these stamps because I know I'm helping to make the whole world peaceful again like our little town."

She signed her name with an important flourish, not forgetting a conspicuous "Miss" in front of the "Janey." After she had sealed the letter she went on staring out of the window. It really was awfully peaceful. Overhead she heard a plane go humming by through the sunny afternoon air. Then the voice of her best friend, Betty, called from outside—"Janey!" In an instant Janey was on her feet and tearing downstairs and out. She was not Hedy LaMarr nor a deep philosopher any more, but exactly twelve years old.

(Letter from an actual communication in the files of the Treasury Department.)

THE OTHER ONE

A young Polish pilot attached to the RAF wished to send a message of goodwill to a friend in a squadron detailed for a special job.

The message he wanted to give was "God preserve you," but, not knowing how to express it in English, he consulted a Polish-English dictionary. That dictionary gave him a choice of two words, "preserve" and "pickle."

He chose the wrong one.

Rousing Climax

Playwright—Well, what did you think of my play?

Producer—I would make one suggestion.

Playwright—What is that?

Producer—Make the villain shoot himself instead of poison himself in the third act.

Playwright—But why?

Producer—It'd wake the audience up.

Punctual

"I can't understand why I didn't get that job," said Betty.

"Well, what did the manager ask you?" inquired her friend.

"He asked if my punctuation was good."

"And what did you say?"

"I said I'd never been late for work in my life."

UP AND UP

The Apple Grower—Gee, but your price is awful. Shortage in barrels? The Cooper—Not a shortage exactly but clothing is very high and barrels are up out of sympathy.

Sorry We Asked

Friend—Well, been fishing, eh?

Caught anything, old man?

Angler (grimly)—Yes, indeed. Caught the 9:10 there and the 5:47 back. Caught in a storm. Caught cold. And boy, will I catch it when I get home!

Statistics

Marcellus—Yo' done said yo' could lick me?

Jasper—Umhm, I sho' did, big boy. Want to see me demonstrate?

Marcellus—No, indeed; I's jest gatherin' statistics.

Spinster

Cather—Mary, if you drink so much tea you will become an old maid.

Mary—I don't believe that at all. Mamma drinks lots of tea and she's been married twice an' isn't an old maid yet.

Discouraged

Barber—You are getting bald, sir. Do you know what is causing it?

Customer—I don't know, but I suspect that my hair falling out has something to do with it.

Doesn't Mind

Traveler—But it isn't sanitary to have your house built over your hog pen that way.

Native—Well, I dunno, Mister. We ain't lost a hog in 15 years.

The Meane

"Yes, but think how he will lie about me."

Close-Up

The workman had placed a ladder against the clock-tower in the public square, and was about to clean the clock face.

"Ah!" said an old lady. "Are you going to do something to the clock?"

"No, mum," replied the man.

"I'm a bit shortsighted, that's all!"

"You certainly want me to look as nice as Jim's wife don't you?"

"No, if you do, Jim won't be trying to get you away from me."

Speaking of reasons why we should be thankful:

All records in Michigan for holiday buying are likely to be broken during the next few weeks. There is more money in circulation, more employment, higher payrolls, and bigger family incomes than ever before.

In scores of industrial towns the factories are humming with push war orders. Pay checks are being swollen by over-time.

The approach of more rationing together with growing shortages of merchandise, has precipitated a consumers' rush to get products while they are still available.

Opening of the "second front" in Africa and news of the outstanding achievements made by the U. S. made tanks in Egypt were welcomed by managers of several Michigan war plants.

One plant has been manufacturing heavy tanks. Because of a few vital parts hundreds of the assembled machines have not been sent to seaboard ports for shipment to our fighting fronts.

It's hard to convince a worker that he should stay on the job and forego the pleasure of deer hunting or frequent absences, when the government apparently is in no hurry to get the machine when the worker is through with it.

Hoarding of surplus labor by management, fearful of a disadvantage in the arms race, and over-absentism by labor are two of the most common complaints to be heard at Lansing these days.

Selective service officials are convinced that many war plants are over-manned with draft-age workers, that management is trying to hedge as much as possible against anticipated draft losses, that women can replace most men and do the job just as well.

On management's side you hear this complaint: Organized labor is limiting production, compelling workers to slow down, and is indifferent to frequent absences by workers. "We can't win the war on a 40-hour week," officials insist.

According to two British labor leaders who recently visited a number of American plants, the average American worker is not aware of the danger confronting the democracies.

Arthur Stace, editor, Ann Arbor News, makes this observation: "While paying the highest tribute to the magnificent physical establishments connected with the job of building weapons, the two visitors observed that the average American war worker seemed to lack the sense of urgency that motivates British workers to all-out production."

"Still more recently, an American reporter in Britain contributed a somewhat similar observation. His account did, however, emphasize a slightly different aspect of the situation. It related that after having lived together under the pressure of bombs and under the threat of imminent attack, the British had acquired two valuable qualities: steadfast national solidarity and a willingness to sacrifice. In the face of perpetual danger, the nation has drawn closer together and individuals have lost a large part of their reluctance to do without things."

Wouldn't you like to buy a War Bond with an official validating stamp "December 7, 1942?" Frank N. Isbey, Frank Murphy's choice for manager of the Michigan State Fair who is chairman of the Michigan war savings committee, invites Michigan citizens "to remember Pearl Harbor" by buying an extra bond between Dec. 1 and 7.

A commemorating date of Dec. 7 will be stamped on each bond purchased during that period, if the purchaser requests it.

Within twelve weeks after enlistment, 300 Michigan volunteers in the U. S. Marines will be on their way to battle, presumably in the southern Pacific war zone. This fact, together with the 167th anniversary of the founding of the Marine Corps, prompted a group of chain store executives in Detroit to arrange a Christmas party in San Diego for the Michigan lads.

Each youth will receive a box containing cakes, cookies, cigarettes, razors, belts, etc.

Cooperating companies are Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, Sears Roebuck, Kroger Grocery & Baking Company, S. S. Kresge, and Cunningham Drug stores.

Repeal of war time for Michigan, the most western state to be within the eastern time zone, is a good bet for the 1943 state legislature.

Campaigning candidates found this pledge to be a vote-getting weapon in bidding for farmers support.

The last legislature repealed the advanced war time, only to have the governor veto the bill.

Streamlining the state legislature job into two annual sessions, instead of the biennial seige at Lansing that usually goes well into May or June, is one of the objectives of Governor-elect Harry F. Kelly.

Other governors have had similar dreams—economy in government, for example—and it remains to be seen whether Kelly can deliver the goods.

It is his conviction that an annual budget would be more efficient. Hence the annual session proposal.

More Young Men Join The Service

Farewells were spoken at the "send off" dinner given for the Crawford County young men who were about to leave to take their parts in Uncle Sam's defense army, at Michelson Memorial church last week Thursday evening. There were over 150 men and women present.

The high school orchestra furnished music as the dinner guests fled into the banquet room, and also during the dinner hour, and many were surprised and thrilled by their splendid performance.

Twenty local boys were to leave for the front, 15 of whom were present at the banquet. Also there were others in the service present at the banquet. All the boys were introduced by Alfred Hanson, secretary-treasurer of the U. S. O. under whose auspices the banquet was given. Those introduced were as follows:

George Richard Wakeley, Charles Peter Kellogg, Anthony Bernard Green, Lyle E. Johnson, Carl L. Miller, Donald R. Corwin (transferred from Saginaw), Clayton E. Budd, (transferred from Saginaw), Pvt. Donald Charron and Lt. John Henry Peterson (in the Air Corps), Robert Ransom Welsh, Edward Martin—Grayling.

Extra Penscola Essner, Edward Wehnes—Eldorado.

Jack Lionel McClain—Ypsilanti.

George Cholo—Roscommon. Don Akers and Harold Janowski-enlisted in the Navy.

Those leaving for Camp Custer left Friday night and those leaving for Induction left Monday.

Venison Supplements Meat Ration

Several million pounds of venison from the 50,000 deer that probably will be taken in Michigan this fall will be a welcome addition to meat rations in many homes. Properly butchered, a deer yields much meat that can be stored for later use. Venison can be smoked, pickled or dried, but the simplest preserving methods, where cold storage lockers are not available, are cold-pack canning and old-fashioned refrigeration: freezing, wrapping and packing in sawdust in a barrel set outdoors. Venison may be kept 60 days past the end of the deer season without permit, six months longer if a permit is obtained from the state conservation department.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 26.

Bob Welsh left Tuesday for Camp Custer where he has enlisted in the Army Air Corps.

Mr. and Mrs. Sigwald Hanson are entertaining Mrs. Hanson's mother, Mrs. Struble of Shepley.

Mrs. H. W. Wolff left Thursday last for her home in New York. She came here to attend the funeral of Mrs. H. A. Bauman and while here was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Joseph.

Donald Charron, who has been visiting his parents—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Charron left Tuesday for Flint from where he will leave for Coffeyville, Kan. Don is with the ground crew of the Army Aviation Corps.

Jack Hull, A. S. U. S. M. S. T. S. Section 120 B. 7, Sheephead Bay, Brooklyn, N. Y. writes: "It's really nice here." Saw Bob Church Sunday. The school holds 12,000 men, and covers 320 acres, with all new buildings.

The Cruiser San Francisco's ordeal with the Japs in which more than a hundred men were killed and perhaps 300 wounded has a special interest for Rev. and Mrs. Kuhlman. It was on this ship that a nephew of theirs is a wireless operator. None of his relatives have any word from him since this recent encounter.

At its meeting last week, the Board of Regents of the U. of M. announced that this year's Christmas vacation for University students will begin with the close of classes on Friday, December 18, and end with the re-opening of classes on Wednesday morning, December 30. The original schedule called for a vacation lasting from December 23.

Word was received by Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kraus Saturday that their son William Kraus, who is with the U. S. Marines had arrived overseas. They had not heard from him since Oct. 11. They also received a letter Tuesday written on board ship.

Kalamazoo college co-eds start volleyball practice tomorrow night, getting ready for their first of four inter society championship tournaments. During the last three school years the Alpha Sigma Deltas have won the all-sports trophy. Particular interest in swimming is very apparent this year among the co-eds. A girls' swimming team is being formed under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Matson, director of physical education for women. End swimming classes and swim meets "for the fun of it" are larger than ever before.

Boyd Kniss of Beaver Creek was among those who filled his deer license this season.

William Lowe of Cheboygan spent the week end at home with his parents Mr. and Mrs. David Lowe.

"Tiny" Russell filled his deer license this season to the tune of a big 8 point buck weighing 170 pounds.

Evert Bidvia of C. M. C. E. spent the week end at his home with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bidvia.

Esbern Olson Jr. of Detroit was at home for the week end with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Esbern Olson Sr.

Miss Virginia Peterson spent the week end home from C. M. C. E. with her parents Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Trudeau and daughter Guin and friends of Bay City spent the week end at their home here.

Ed. Papendick of Ashley is here hunting this week. He is visiting Sheriff and Mrs. John Papendick and also camping.

Bud Smith of the U. S. Navy who is stationed in South Dakota and was on furlough was here Sunday visiting Miss Ann Weiss.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodson and daughter, Matilda left Wednesday for their home in Salisbury, S. C. after spending several days here.

Homer Annis of Midland spent the week end at his home in Beaver Creek with his wife and family. Mr. Annis is employed in Midland.

Of the 12 hunters from Detroit and Kalamazoo who were guests at the Harley Kennedy home last week 6 of the men filled their deer licenses.

Mrs. Helen Routier left for her home in Detroit Saturday from where she will leave for Camp Robinson, Ark., to visit her son, Ralph.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Owen of Detroit spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Holger Schmidt last week. Glenn brought in his buck.

Leon Johnston of Beaver Creek son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnston left last Friday for Camp Custer where he was sent after he joined the armed forces.

Monday the boys and girls of the Grayling High School enjoyed another holiday from their studies due to the fact that the furnace stoker was "on the blink" again.

Mrs. C. G. Clippert drove to Mt. Pleasant Saturday and returned the same day accompanied by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Webb who will remain for the winter.

Sunday, Miss Kathryn Charron of Saginaw was home to spend the day with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Albert Charron and to see her brother Don who is home on furlough from the army.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartlund Eldred of Detroit spent the week end visiting the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. John Brady. Miss Helen Brady was also home from Detroit for the week end.

Misses Arline Hopkins and "Tootie" Brietzke and Jim Venderhull of C. M. C. E. Mt. Pleasant spent Saturday in Grayling visiting Miss Natalie Ann Peterson who was home ill the past week.

Misses Elinore Bugby and Faye Christenson of C. M. C. E. spent the week end at their homes in Grayling. They had with them as their guests two school friends. All four girls greatly enjoyed the week end.

I am sure that we will all be thinking of our boys in the service today as we sit down to our Thanksgiving dinners. And perhaps more of us will be more thankful for the freedom we are paying such a price to retain.

Those some 125 people who attended the U. S. O. perch fry that was held in one of the mess halls at the Hartwick Pines camp Sunday enjoyed the supper and the games a lot. Grant Thompson was the chef and those who were there say the perch were fried to perfection. Grant can cook them as well as catch them. The proceeds nicely swelled the U. S. O. fund.

On Sunday, Nov. 29 there will be services in Grayling Lutheran church. The morning service at 11:00 o'clock will be in Danish and in the evening the congregation is invited to hear a lecture at Danebod hall beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Edwin Hansen of Marlette will be the guest pastor. This will be Rev. Hansen's last visit to Grayling as he is leaving Marlette to take a pastorate in Racine, Wis. At Danebod hall following the lecture pot luck lunch will be served.

Miss Edna Muth of Detroit spent the week end in Grayling.

Hal Buriss of Detroit was in Grayling over the week end.

Mrs. Howard Smith of Detroit was here over the week end visiting friends.

Harold Jankowske of Ann Arbor spent the week end in Grayling visiting friends.

Several of the students of the Beaver Creek school are absent from their studies suffering from "pink eye."

The 1942 Christmas seal will go on sale November 23, with the slogan "Protect Your Home from Tuberculosis."

Clarence Woods and Albert Isaacson of Flint spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Heath.

George Schaible was one of the lucky nimrods to bag his buck on one of the opening days of the season.

Miss Patricia Roberts is home from M. S. C. East Lansing for the holiday recess visiting her mother Mrs. A. L. Roberts.

A letter received by Mrs. Roy Warner says that her son Hally is now located in Hawaii and that Paul is also at that place.

The Senior Ladies Aid of the Grayling Lutheran Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Marie Hanson Thursday, December 3.

Jerry Hyde of Flint and Leo Kalahar of Merrill visited at the home of Mrs. B. J. Callahan last week. Mr. Kalahar filled his deer license the first of the week.

Victor, Glen and Lowell Overly, Clifford Fletcher and Hershel Kimball of Detroit were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Wheeler this week.

Bernard Palmer of the U. S. Navy, stationed some where in the Atlantic, sent home Christmas cards showing summer scenes and palm trees. So apparently there will be no "White Christmas" for him.

There is plenty of Red Cross sewing at the headquarters in the American Legion hall. Those who would like to help will find the hall open each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoon of each week.

Until the re-opening of our local Greenhouse, we will be glad to serve you in ordering flowers. Please place your order as far as possible in advance of the day of which they are desired. Norman E. Butler, Grayling Funeral Home, 11-19-2.

A telegram from Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the Defense council was received by the Avalanche Wednesday. It reads in part as follows: "The government is asking the American farmer to dedicate the remaining weeks of 1942 to an intensified scrap hunt."

Visiting at the Hjalmer Mortenson farm home at Beaver Creek last week were Van Pratt, and Messrs. Sterner and Redman of Kalamazoo and Sullivan of Detroit. Four of the men filled their deer licenses the first few days of the season. Mr. Dunn, also of Detroit filled his license this week.

Miss Rose Mary Charron came home Monday from Mt. Mercy Academy, Grand Rapids where she is majoring in journalism to spend the Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Charron. She came in time to see her brother Don, who was home on furlough from Coffeyville, Kan. The latter returned to his post Tuesday.

18% OF HER PAY GOES INTO WAR BONDS

War Plant Worker Buys Bonds for Warrior Husband

Although she has two children to support on her wages as a power press operator at a war plant, Mrs. Mabel W. puts 18% of her pay every week into War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. Mrs. W. thinks of every bond she buys in terms of what it can do for her soldier husband out in Australia. "Already," she says, "I've bought Jim a Garand rifle and a gas mask in War Bonds. I feel I'm helping to bring him back safe and sound!"

You Can Spare 10%!
Maybe you can't save as much as 18% of your salary in War

Bonds. But you can stretch yourself a bit more—make a few "sacrifices"—and reach Uncle Sam's goal of 10% for War Bonds every payday! Sign up today with the Payroll Savings Plan where you work!

Letters from Camp

Lemoore Army Flying School
Lemoore, California.
November 16, 1919.

Dear Mr. Schumann:
I'm still here at Lemoore, although we are supposed to leave in about three weeks. We still have a lot of work to finish up—formation, night formation, night cross-country, instrument time, instrument cross-country, flying the beam, etc.

I've had a taste of night flying already. It's strange at first, but a lot of fun and very interesting. The only lights are the navigation lights, red on the left wing, green on the right, with the red passing light on the left wing on all the time. The faces of the luminous instruments glow softly, the sky is studded with stars so big you can almost reach up and touch them, and the exhaust stack from the engine pours out a big blue wind-whipped flame like a huge blowtorch. The blackness of the ground is dotted with a hundred lights, marking oil well derricks, houses, cars moving along the roads. Off to the left is the field, outlined by rows of lights around the edge. The landing, takeoff and parking areas are marked off, and at the end of the runway is a floodlight. With the aid of the landing lights a pretty fair landing can be made. We shot a few landings without the flood, just having the marker lights to go by and the landing lights to illuminate the ground. We were supposed to make some landings without even the landing lights but didn't get to it.

Formation is interesting, too. We fly a three-ship V, with the lead plane giving all the signals, even on the ground. The pilots of the other two ships keep their eyes on the lead ship, even during the take-off and landing. It seems odd to think of landing without even looking at the ground, but that what happens. If a student takes his eyes off the lead plane, even for an instant, it costs him five stars.

These stars are awarded for doing something wrong and are assessed at 25c each, the money going to put on our flight party when we finish here. One fellow has 38 already; so far I've been lucky and only have four. But my instructor is very lenient that way. We're pretty lucky here in my flight in having some pretty fine men for instructors. At primary, the instructors were civilians, here they are all officers.

Another thing we have to contend with is trying to fly the plane by instruments alone, with a hood over the cockpit. It is surprising and very disconcerting to discover how easily the needle and bell get off center and the air speed builds up or drops off. The needle shows which way the ship is turning ball shows if the wings are level. Sounds simple doesn't it? But keeping them in their proper places, making a turn, climbing letting down, doing a stall, using only the movements of the instruments to indicate what is happening, keeps one busy, to say the least. And watching the clock in timed turns is also necessary. But we have to do it, and the more of it one has the better off he is—sometimes a pilot may get into some weather where he has to use instruments, and then they are worth more than their weight in gold.

We're getting a pretty good course in meteorology, too. Not to make weather forecasters out of us, but to enable us to interpret weather sequence reports and understand what the weather is doing—whether there is a warm or cold front moving in its speed, direction, etc. It's all very important too, especially in mountainous country.

Time to shove off for bed now, so I'll close for this time. Best personal regards to you and Mrs. Schumann and the office force.

Yours very truly,
Ivan Rice.

WHAT AND HOW TO FEED WAR PLANT WORKERS:

The American Weekly—with this Sunday's (November 29) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times—points out that food experts say workers can pack enough pep into a lunchbox to avoid afternoon slump at the desk, or on the assembly line, and make up man-hours lost through illness—without putting a strain on the pocketbook. Be sure to get Sunday's Detroit Times.
